

Uniform Policy

Language is core to Classical education. As a visual language, clothing reveals and communicates the heart at some level. Since we believe that classical Christian education is a gift from God that he uses to glorify man who in turn glorifies Him and one another, the message we wish to convey through our uniform is one of unity amidst diversity, modesty, discretion, order, reverence, and glory. Just as hair is for glory and not modesty, ties, pleats, collars, matching socks, and stockings are for glory. They are an adornment – a decoration. This glory, however, is not a self-directed glory, so bling that comes in the form of glitter headbands, large earrings and other piercings, snazzy socks, hot pink hair, etc. are not part of the uniform. As glory-seekers, we also value modesty and discretion, traits that stand the test of time. Classical Christian education is the great tradition passed down from generation to generation. This tradition includes cultural artifices such as clothing, so we should expect a classic school uniform to be reminiscent of those worn in previous generations, rather than unduly influenced by the latest fashion trends. Contemporary culture emphasizes personal comfort, individualized preferences, and expression of self. However, we wish to create and promote an environment of learning where dress is not a distraction from the educational process, but rather supports and enhances it.

Our development of a uniform policy is driven by a desire to create and promote an environment of learning where dress is not a distraction to the educational process. The motivation for the policy has grown out of the following principles:

- Our goal is to honor God in all we do, acknowledging the Lordship of Jesus Christ in our choices. All human actions, including outward manifestations such as clothing, reveal and communicate the disposition of the heart at some level. Through the uniform policy, we can proactively train the affections of students as they prepare for adulthood, rather than constantly reacting to personal choices of a multitude of students that may not be appropriate in the absence of such a policy.
- Clothing represents the vocational calling of a person, and inherent in the uniform policy is a desire to create an environment where undue attention is not drawn to specific students. The neat and coherent appearance created by a uniform enhances a ready-to-learn atmosphere.
- Uniforms help engender a cohesive presentation of the students in our school. When our students are in uniform it communicates, aesthetically, that they are part of the same team, working toward the same goals. The student is part of a group identity that strives for excellence, and the code establishes a tradition toward that end. We have selected a Dress and Event Uniform that displays unity and have added elective items to allow for diversity.
- The uniform code should save parents money. The uniform code de-emphasizes the social impact of dress and helps focus the students on character and academic issues. The selected clothes were chosen with price and durability in mind for an overall good value.
- The uniform code addresses security. On field trips, students in uniform aid the teachers in keeping track of everyone. At recess or in the school, teachers and staff can clearly identify students from outsiders.

The administration is responsible for the interpretation of the policy, and the enforcement of the policy is the responsibility of parents, administration, faculty, and staff. Students and parents will be notified of uniform infractions and a habit of non-compliance may result in further discipline. Students are expected to be in uniform while on campus unless specified otherwise by the administration.
